

GRAVITY ENDURO RULES AND SAFETY

Race

After the compulsory briefing, riders will be given the go ahead to start.

GE races include liaison stages and special stages. The time taken to complete special stages is accumulated to give an overall total time. An Enduro course comprises of varied off-road terrain. The track should include a mixture of narrow and wide, slow, and fast paths and tracks over a mixture of off-road surfaces. Each timed stage must be predominately descending but small pedaling or uphill sections are acceptable. Liaison stages can include either mechanical uplift, pedal powered climbs or a mixture of both. The emphasis of the track must be on rider enjoyment, technical and physical ability. You will have several hours to complete the course.

The goal is to race down the special stages, recording a time for each, which is then consolidated into a single time with the fastest time of all competitors declared the winner.

In between each special stage is the liaison stages. This will be predominantly uphill and are for transitioning the riders from the end of the previous competitive stage to the start of the next one. Liaison stages aren't timed, or competitive. All riders can complete all stages in a reasonable time. Depending on the round, you may only be required to complete 1 run only on each stage or you may be able to complete multiple runs on each stage and your fastest time is recorded.

Only registered racers may compete in an event. No kidding, you must be registered to race. An official race number plate must be displayed by each racer. No competitor shall cut, fold, mutilate, apply stickers to or alter in any way the number plate. Numbers are not transferable. Penalty is simple; the timers will not be able to score you, when you complain, it will lead to disqualification.

For example, the pursuing rider may say "On your left", allowing the slower rider to move to the right.

Timing

Timing controls are located at the start and finish of each stage. Prior to starting the event, rider must tag the CLEAR timing control point and then the START timing control point. Each rider will be issued with a timing device that will activate the timing control points; this is to be attached to the rider.

Riders will start each stage at 30 second intervals with a maximum of 1 minute between each rider.

It is the responsibility of the rider to ensure that they STOP at the end of each stage and tag the timing control. If you fail to do this, you will not receive a time for that stage and you will also receive a DNF in the overall results.

On completion of all stages for the day you MUST download your timing results at registration. No download, NO time!

Pausing or Abandoning the Race:

The race may be paused or abandoned due to extreme weather, emergencies or any other reason decided by the organizer. If the race is paused, all riders must complete the lap they are on and their time and laps will be recorded. If the race is then abandoned, that will determine the placings. If the race is resumed at a later time, then the riders will be started on their lap in a staggered start method, so that each rider has the same time off the bike due to the pause and there is no unfair advantage gained. There will be no refunds or other considerations if the race is paused or abandoned.

Withdrawing from the Race:

A rider may withdraw from race at any time. If they choose to withdraw, they must notify the event staff at the timing tent. A rider who withdraws is not allowed to rejoin or resume the race. They must remove their race numbers and cannot ride on the course for the remainder of the event. If they have completed at least one lap, they will be awarded a race result.

Interventions during the race can only be carried out in a stationery position. Riders must dismount from their bikes to receive medical assistance.

If you are injured and assisted back to the event center, then your lap will not count. Following treatment, the Race Director will decide on whether you are allowed to continue the race, based on available medical advice. The Race Director's decision is final and non-appealable.

The Race Director may remove a rider from the course for assessment if in the Race Director's opinion, the rider is showing signs of extreme fatigue or other condition which may be detrimental to the rider or to other riders in race. Following medical assessment, the Race Director will either:

- Allow the rider to resume racing,
- Mandate a rest period before the rider can resume the race, or
- Withdraw the rider from the race.

This decision is the sole responsibility of the Race Director and is non-appealable. There will be no compensation for the rider for the time taken for the assessment process.
