The course is split into 2 main categories – the timed competitive stages and the transition stages.

There will be 6 timed competitive stages, all predominantly downhill and ranging in difficulty.

The goal is to race down the competitive stages and recording a time for each. Your fastest time for each stage will be counted and the fastest overall of all competitors will be declared the winner.

In between each competitive stage, is the transition stages. This will be predominantly uphill, and are for transitioning the riders from the end of the previous competitive stage to the start of the next one.

All riders have the opportunity to complete all stages in a reasonable time.

Beginners will complete stages 3, 4 and 5, Intermediate are to complete stages 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 and Expert are to complete stages 1, 2, 3, 4 5, and 6. If you like to complete the other stages, you can but the times will not be included in your overall tally.

You will have a timing chip that needs to be returned at the end of the race. If it isn't, you will be charged $100.

Only registered racers may compete in an event. No kidding, you must be registered to race. An official race number plate must be displayed by each racer. The stages can be completed in any order.

If the race is paused, all riders must complete the lap they are on and their time and laps will be recorded. If the race is then abandoned, that will determine the placings. If the race is resumed at a later time, then the riders will be started on their lap in a staggered start method, so that each rider has the same time off the bike due to the pause and there is no unfair advantage gained. There will be no refunds or other considerations if the race is paused or abandoned.

Withdrawing from the Race:

A rider may withdraw from race at any time. If they choose to withdraw, they must notify the event staff at the timing tent. A rider who withdraws is not allowed to rejoin or resume the race. They must remove their race numbers and cannot ride on the course for the remainder of the event. If they have completed at least one lap, they will be awarded a race result.

If you are injured and assisted back to the event center, then your lap will not count. Following treatment, the Race Director will make a decision on whether you are allowed to continue the race, based on available medical advice. The Race Director's decision is final and non-appealable.

The Race Director may remove a rider from the course for assessment if in the Race Director's opinion the rider is showing signs of extreme fatigue or other condition which may be detrimental to the rider or to other riders in race. Following medical assessment, the Race Director will either:

- Allow the rider to resume racing,
